FATAL WOUND

Capt. Hardiman Robinson, of Fulton, Shot by Ed Smith, Dies.

HEMORRHAGE TOOK HIM

He Was Captain of the Fulton Military Company and Very Popular.

THE BURIAL TO BE AT MURRAY

Capt. Hardiman Robinson, of Fulton, Ky., who was shot at Fulton, on Thursday night, February 21st, by Ed Smith, the restaurant keeper, died at 8 o'clock this morning in the Illinois Central hospital here, where he had been since the fatal night of the tragedy.

Capt. Robinson had been improving slowly up to 11 o'clock last night when he took a turn for the worse, and a hemorrhage caused death about 8 o'clock.

The facts in the tragedy are well known. Smith was drunk, and had had a fight with and been whipped by Ed Hodges, in Sam Ford's saloon.

Enraged by his difficulty, he went to Knight's hotel, and securing a .38-caliber pistol from behind the bar, proceeded, as he says, to look for Hodges.

In crossing the street Robinson was shot. He stated later at the hospital soon after he was brought here that he did not know Smith was around and had never had any trouble with him. Smith says he snatched and the pistol went off accidentally.

The bullet entered Capt. Robinson's right shoulder four inches under the collar bone and one and one-quarter inches from the arm pit. The ball ranged downward and came out at the middle of the second third of the shoulder.

Capt. Robinson's aunt, Mrs. Green Pelts, had spent a great deal of time with him since he had been here, and there was much interest continually manifested in his condition by the people of Fulton.

He was a young man about 24 years of age and had lived in Fulton four or five years. He was a son of Mr. R. W. Robinson, of near Murray, Ky., and one of the most prominent young men in Fulton. He has been connected with the Illinois Central railroad as night clerk ever since he has been a resident of Fulton, with the exception of two years' service in the Philippines with the First Tennessee Volunteers. After being honorably discharged from the army he returned to Fulton and took up his old position. A few weeks ago a company of state guard was organized and all the members turned to him for their captain. He was unanimously selected and proved a good, active worker. He left many true friends and few enemies, if any, and was a favorite among the boys.

Smith's preliminary trial was set for March 26th, and he was released on a $2,500 bond.

It is understood that Smith was released at Fulton this morning on a charge of murder, and will not be allowed bail until possibly after the examining trial.

Mr. I. G. Pelts, uncle of the deceased, and Mrs. Fern Clark, Captain Robinson's fiancée, and her brother, arrived at noon.

The remains were shipped over the N. O. and St. L. at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon for Murray for burial. Captain Robinson was an Old Fulton. His uncle and aunt and others accompanied the remains.

Miss Clara Western, the trained nurse, returned to Louisville today.

POLICE COURT

Judge Sanders Has A Big Crowd of Spectators Today.

SMITH'S CASE CONTINUED

"KID" DOVEY WAS HELD OVER

There were six felony cases for trial in Judge Sanders' court this morning. There was a large crowd of spectators present to hear the evidence.

George Smith caught at Pryorsburg night before last, by Sheriff Donahitt and Marshal McNatt at Mayfield, was charged with maliciously assaulting Viola Green on January 4. He pleaded not guilty but said he wanted an attorney, but no witnesses. The case was continued until tomorrow.

Louis Bufo! the negro desperado who shot at Lockup Keeper McNeef near Fourth and Adams last Saturday, was charged with malicious shooting in two cases and maliciously cutting Charles Brown. He was held to answer in all three cases in the sum of $500 each, waiving examination in the last case, and went to jail in default of bond.

Kid Dovey, alias Allen Dohy, was held to answer for maliciously shooting at Lefe Allen at John More's Seventh and Adams, last December. After being arrested yesterday he swore out a warrant against Allen for robbery and the evidence showed they had a dispute over some change in the rear of a saloon, and Allen compelled him to give it up. Dovey followed him outside, after seizing a pistol from behind the bar, and shot at him twice. Allen was acquitted of robbery.

Ernest Ozment and Wood Jones, arrested by Officers Singery and Goureaux, were charged with going to Jake Caldwell's shoe shop on Third street, and throwing rocks at him and abusing him. Ozment was the only one arrested, and he said he was drunk and didn't know exactly what happened. He was fined $25 and costs, and the court and he would have to execute a $10 bond to be of future good behavior.

Levi Lee, of Fulton who came up here several weeks ago and fired a pistol at Mullie Groves, was arrested by Officer Tom Potter last night, and on motion of the prosecuting attorney fined $50 and costs.

Officer Tom Orr arrested Will Bradshaw, colored, this morning at an early hour for beating his wife and daughter March 4. He has been in the habit of going to his home on South Tenth street where he thinks no police are near and kicking the door in, then having ten or fifteen minutes rough house. This morning just as he was kicking in the door Officer Orr surprised him. The defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

The lecture by Rev. Perryman to have been given at the Y. M. C. A. tonight will have to be postponed, as the lecturer was called out of town yesterday and will not be able to be back tonight. The tickets now out will be good for the lecture when given.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Through the efforts of the Memphis freight bureau the Southern railway has granted a rate from Memphis on all classes and commodities to Tennessee river landings between Decatur, Ala., and Bridgeport, Ala., which places that city upon a competitive basis with St. Louis, Evansville, Louisville, Cairo and other markets. The concession was made without a fight.

It is said that Horace F. Smith, traffic manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road, has been offered the position of vice president and general manager of the Seaboard Air Line.

A Chicago dispatch says. Delegates to the annual convention of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association, which represents 140 railways with a total tonnage of 175,000 miles in Canada, the United States and Mexico, met here today. Of the 300 delegates over 150 were present at the convention and a majority of the delegates are expected to arrive tonight or tomorrow.

The primary object of the association is to bring about a uniform condition in the railroads of North America, and while the convention is limited to making recommendations in the various companies their suggestions have great weight, as the members of the organization are heads of the engineering and operating departments of the various roads. During the convention sixteen committees appointed at the convention a year ago will report on the following matters: Grades, ballasting, ties, rails, trucks, buildings, bridges and trestles, masonry, signs, fencing and cattle guards, signaling and interlocking, signals and reports, uniform rules and regulations, water service yards and terminals.

Following the roll call President J. E. Wallace delivered his annual address, dealing with the growth of the association and notable progress made in improving the roads by using better ballast and heavier rails.

Chief Train Dispatcher A. J. Jorgenson, of the city, has gone to Evansville on business.

Trainmaster J. J. Flynn came in this morning and returned at noon to Memphis.

The governing officials of the operating department of the Illinois Central have issued a report of the annual inspection of the various divisions showing the improvements made in track and roadbed. Posts will be erected along the divisions, marked in gilt letters "This marks the best kept section in the district." The best kept section was on the Louisville division, in charge of foreman J. W. Shaw, who succeeded in a training an average of 99.34%. The entire Louisville division had an average of 94.63%. The whole report reflects great credit on Superintendent W. J. Harrahan, Roadmaster L. A. Downs and Trainmaster J. J. Flynn, under whose suggestion or supervision the many improvements were made.

Dr. F. W. Lee, of the Illinois Central hospital corps, left today at noon for his former home in Morganfield on a visit.

Conductor C. H. Blaney, of the St. Louis division of the Illinois Central, received news today that his little son, Barney, had an arm broken near the wrist at St. Louis yesterday.

DEATH'S VICTIM

General Harrison Died at a Late Hour Yesterday Afternoon at Indianapolis.

General Harrison died at a late hour yesterday afternoon at Indianapolis. He was 71 years of age and had been in poor health for some time. He was a member of the Indiana legislature and had served in the army during the Civil War.

HIS DEATH WAS PAINLESS

None of His Children Were at the Bedside When the Last Moments Were Made.

Indianapolis, March 14.—General Benjamin Harrison died at 4:15 yesterday afternoon without regaining consciousness. His death was quiet and painless, there being a gradual sinking until the end came, which was marked by a single gasp for breath as life left the body.

The relatives with a few exceptions and several of his old and tried friends were at the bedside when he passed away.

None of General Harrison's children were present at his death. Neither Colonel Russell Harrison nor Mrs. McKim Harrison nor Mrs. McKim Harrison were present at his death.

The army at the bedside included Mrs. Harrison, W. H. H. Miller, Senator Miller, his son, the Rev. M. L. Haines, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, which General Harrison had attended for so many years; Secretary Tibbitt, Mrs. Jameson and Dorsey, Col. Hamblett, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, and a close personal friend of the dead president, and the two nurses, who have been in constant attendance at the bedside. General Harrison's two states and an aunt were also present.

Mrs. Harrison knelt at the side of the bed, her husband's right hand grasping hers, while Dr. Jameson held the left hand of the dying man, counting the feeble pulse beats. In a few minutes after the friends had been summoned to the room, the end came. Dr. Jameson announcing the sad fact. The silence was broken by the voice of Dr. Haines raised in prayer, mingled with the sobs of the mourners.

One of the most pathetic incidents of the general's illness occurred Tuesday before he became unconscious. His little Elizabeth was brought into the sick room for a few moments to see her father, and offered him a small apple pie which she herself had made. General Harrison smiled his recognition of the child and her gift, but the effort to speak was too much, and he could do nothing more to express his appreciation.

According to the funeral plans, General Harrison's remains will lie in state at the state capital next Saturday, and the funeral will occur Sunday.

Washington, March 14.—The president has issued a proclamation ordering all the flags lowered and kept at half mast for thirty days on all government buildings in the American and the insular possessions and on all warships.

Indianapolis, March 14.—Thousands of messages of condolence were received by Mrs. Harrison today from every part of the country. The president and ex-President Cleveland sent very sympathetic notes, and both of them will attend the funeral which will occur Sunday.

CLEVELAND MOVED BY THE SAD INTELLIGENCE.

Princeton, N. J., March 14.—Former President Cleveland last night made the following statement on the death of former President Harrison: "I am exceedingly moved by the sad intelligence of Mr. Harrison's death, for notwithstanding the late disconcerting reports of his condition, I hoped his life might yet be spared. Not one of our countrymen should for a moment fail to realize the services which have been performed in their behalf by the distinguished dead. In high public offices he was guided by patriotism and devotion to duty, often at the sacrifice of temporary popularity, and in private station, his influence and example was always in the direction of decency and good citizenship."

PRESIDENT TO ATTEND FUNERAL.

Washington, March 14.—President McKinley will attend the funeral of Gen. Harrison. He will leave for Indianapolis probably tomorrow night, although the exact time of departure has not yet been determined definitely. It is not expected that any of the members of the cabinet will go.

Tonight the president sent a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Harrison.

THE BROOKHILL.

LITTLE YACHT GETS OFF AND COMES BACK HOME, NONE THE WORSE.

The yacht Brookhill, which was stranded on Stewart's island six weeks ago when several gentlemen had her on a hunting trip, was floated last evening and came on to Paducah, none the worse for her experience. She is now with the fleet up at the Duck's Nest, and will not have to be repaired.

BRYAN'S SCOOP.

New York, March 14.—Col. Bryan was asked what he thought of the statement of President McKinley, of Yale University, that unless the trusts were knocked out inside of twenty years there would be an emperor in Washington.

"As a newspaper man I am very proud of the fact that my little weekly paper had a great scoop on this," said Col. Bryan. "We announced that McKinley was an emperor a week ago, so we have scooped President McKinley by twenty-five years. Sentiment will not check the trusts. Laws are required. The sentiment of blue people out of town is against horseracing, but the tenth man will continue to steal horses unless there is a law to prevent him, and he will snap his fingers in the faces of the nine."

GIRL ARRESTED FOR HUGGERY.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 14.—The postoffice department here has been notified by Inspector Keyes of the arrest of Miss Mary Bolton, assistant postmaster at Stockville, Tenn., on the charge of robbing the mails. She is described as a beautiful young girl, and the daughter of the Rev. Joseph Bolton, who is a preacher of high standing.

A SMALL BLAZE.

The fire department was called to the home of Mr. H. C. Brown, at 1023 West Broadway, by a still alarm about 2:30 o'clock this morning. A small blaze from a defective flue did little damage before it was extinguished.

Mr. Julius Weil came in at noon from a trip south.

A BIG BLAZE

Cloverport, Ky., March 14.—Cloverport was visited by a big blaze last night that leaves the town in a terribly crippled condition and will cause a lot of suffering. It started about 11 o'clock, originating in the residence of Mrs. Oelzes, and burned until 4:30 this morning. It was caused by the explosion of a natural gas pipe. For awhile it seemed that the entire town would be destroyed and outside assistance from Owensboro, Henderson and Evansville was called for. The Evansville fire company responded, but it arrived too late to be of much service.

The amount of the loss will foot up a half million dollars. Six blocks of buildings on Main, the principal street, were totally destroyed, only one store, the Fair, escaping from the devouring flames. Fifty people are homeless and short of provisions. Outside assistance is coming in generously, Frankfort sending the first donation, a lot of tents.

The following buildings were destroyed by the fire: The Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the Brookridge News office, the Brookridge bank, nine residences, twelve stores, several small offices and two large tobacco stemmeries. The latter are the property of the American Tobacco company.

The Louisville Post is running an exchange column. The following is one of the many humorous offers that appear in the column: "FOR EXCHANGE—Brown hair wig; natural curl; worn only a few times, for refrigerator or anything useful. Address L. C. B., 2719 W. Walnut st., up stairs."

The death of Benjamin Harrison removes not only an honorable ex-president, but a distinguished soldier, a brilliant statesman, a lawyer of rare ability and a loyal and patriotic citizen. Though most successful in the political field, he was not a politician in the common meaning of the word; his political honors came to him more as a recognition of the confidence and esteem in which he was held by the people of his state rather than as the result of elections on his part.

Benjamin Harrison, the twenty-third president of the United States, was born August 20, 1833, in North Bend, Indiana. His father, John Scott Harrison, was a prominent Democrat and was twice elected to congress from the Cincinnati, O., district. His grandfather, William Henry Harrison, was the ninth president of the United States. His great grandfather, Benjamin Harrison, of Virginia, was a member of the continental congress, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and was three times elected governor of Virginia. Even further back the Harrisons were influential citizens and prominent in colonial affairs. Such an honored ancestry is a heritage that no American citizen can boast of, save perhaps the Adamases, of Massachusetts.

At the age of 14 Benjamin Harrison left the farm and attended Farmers College, of Cincinnati, and graduated from Miami University, Oxford, O., in 1852. He then entered the law office of Judge Bellamy Storer, of Cincinnati, and two years later went to Indianapolis where he opened a law office and where he made his home until the day of his death. Harrison soon became one of the most successful and best known young lawyers in the state and in 1860 was elected reporter of the supreme court, being elected as a Republican and on the state ticket.

Two years later, however, he raised a company of volunteers and was commissioned colonel of the Seventeenth Indiana volunteers and in August of that year his regiment was sent to the front. Harrison's rise in the army was as rapid as his brilliant success in his professional career. At the battle of Resaca, May 1864, the Seventeenth regiment led the brigade in a gallant charge and its colonel greatly distinguished himself. In July of the same year he was promoted to the rank of major.

Creek, Colonel Harrison, in the crisis of the fight and without awaiting orders, seized an important position and successfully resisted, at great loss to the federal army, for this brilliant achievement, upon the recommendation of Major General Joe Hooker, he was brevetted brigadier general by President Lincoln.

In the fall of 1861 and while at the front, Col. Harrison was re-elected reporter of the supreme court of Indiana which office he had lost when he accepted his commission in the army. This office he now held four years when he retired and resumed the practice of his profession. In 1870, General Harrison was nominated for governor of Indiana and was defeated. In 1880 he was chairman of the Indiana delegation to the Republican national convention and cast 34 votes for James G. Blaine in that historic contest. President Garfield offered him any position in his cabinet save that of secretary of state which was filled by Blaine. In 1881 Harrison was elected to the United States senate from Indiana, but in 1887 he was defeated for re-election, the Democrats controlling the Indiana legislature of that year. In 1888 he was elected president over Grover Cleveland, and was defeated by Cleveland in 1892.

Harrison's administration was most prosperous and successful. The only crisis during his incumbency was that resulting from the Chilian imbroglio, which was handled by the president in a most statesmanlike manner. Indeed the president's message to that affair is one of the great state papers of this country.

General Harrison was a man of rugged character, great tenacity of purpose, a Christian of the old school, and his private life and his public career were absolutely free from scandal or taint in even the slightest degree. He was always a great force in the councils of his party, whether in state or national affairs. While president his administration was distinguished by his own shaping as far as policies were concerned. He was a lifelong Republican having cast his first presidential vote for John G. Fremont. He was one of the greatest masters of the English language of his day, easily standing without a rival as a ready speaker and debater and in his choice of pure and forcible diction.

Since his retirement from active political life he has stood at the head of the American bar and has furnished the conspicuous example of an ex-president actively pursuing the practice of his profession with no loss of dignity and with great honor to himself and his country.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none comes out of ten are cured by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FROM NEW YORK.

To The Sun:

New York, March 10.—We arrived in this city, the greatest of all American cities, Thursday after a pleasant stay of two days in Philadelphia. The most inspiring and the most interesting spot in Philadelphia is Liberty Hall. We visited it on Wednesday. Harrell and Roth took special interest in the old hall that proclaimed liberty to "all the land and all the islands thereof." It is held in high esteem and a policeman guards it night and day. The hall where the continental congress was assembled with its furnishings is very interesting; the chair in which the Hon. John Hancock sat, and the table on which the Declaration of Independence lay when signed, are there in the same place they were on that ever-to-be-remembered day; many of the chairs in which the delegates sat are there, as are the pictures of all the members of that honorable body. Across the hall is the room in which the first antislavery convention was held presided over by the greatest of all jurists, Hon. John Marshall. Up the stairs you see one of the original paintings of Washington by Rembrandt Peal, the greatest portrait painter of any age. On second floor of the building is the banquet hall, where many celebrated events took place, notably the final celebration of the treaty of peace.

We next visited the Flag house and viewed the room in which "Betsy" Ross made the first flag. It is an old dilapidated building. The room is kept intact as it was in the stormy days of the revolution when the flag was made. There is a patriotic move on foot to raise funds to purchase this house and convert it into a memorial museum. It was a pleasure to note that some Paducah patriot has acquired a copy of the first flag picture, and enrolling that many Paducahans upon the "Roll of Honor." The question naturally arises who is this Paducah patriot?

We next visited the grave of Hon. Robert Morris, the "Financier of the Revolution," who gave all his thousands for the cause and died penniless. Returning we passed the cemetery in the very heart of the city, and noticed the grave of another distinguished American, Benjamin Franklin. We visited the point next and saw them coining money, a very interesting sight to the boys. It may be interesting to know that $18,000 of silver and gold was picked out of the sweepings last year. The working of this institution is so well arranged and managed that notwithstanding hundreds of thousands of dollars are handled yearly the loss is comparatively nothing. All the small coins are coined at this mint.

Another place of great interest is the city hall. This building is unquestionably the finest municipal building in this country, the tower is surmounted by a statue of William Penn, the top of his head being 300 feet from the ground. It has cost millions of

Not-Lavelling Chair.

With the idea of eliminating some extent, at least, the disagreeable affliction of scalding, two Englishmen have devised a self-lavelling chair. The chair is suspended from two rings working in a framework at right angles to each other, and it is claimed the chair will remain level in the roughest sea. The idea is also applied to berths.

AFTER EFFECT OF GRIP.

ARE OFTEN MORE SERIOUS THAN THE GRIP ITSELF.

Physicians and grip sufferers alike are agreed that the after effects of the disease are more to be feared than the acute attack; you can never be sure that the disease has left the system completely.

Grippe naturally attacks the weakest organ and leaves it still weaker.

Not only pneumonia, consumption, bronchitis and throat trouble follow the grip, but kidney, liver and stomach are troubled just as liable to result, provided any of these organs should happen to be in a weak condition at the time of attack.

To get rid of the grip germ, to get it entirely out of the system and blood, few remedies are so good and more safer than Stuart's Cathartic Tablets; they are not a compound of powerful and dangerous drugs, but a pleasant, palatable, convenient remedy in tablet form, composed of the whole-some, anisotropic principles of Eucalyptus bark, blood root and similar germicide remedies which are perfectly wholesome and harmless to the system, but death to the germs of grip, catarrh, consumption and diseases of the throat and air passages.

Mrs. Chas. Gormley, of Memphis, says: Last winter an attack of the grip left me with weak back, a persistent cough and loss of flesh and appetite and after using various remedies for several months with little or no improvement I finally bought a 30-cent package of Stuart's Cathartic Tablets at my drug store; and as they were pleasant and convenient to take I used them at all times of day or night and I was astonished to secure such fine results from so pleasant and convenient a medicine. In two weeks my cough disappeared, my appetite returned, I improved in flesh and color and no one would now think that I had ever had such a thing as the grip.

My druggist told me he sold more of Stuart's Cathartic Tablets, for the cure of grip, colds and catarrh, than any other similar medicines.

Mr. George Katterjohn and wife left at noon for Kansas City and other cities on a visit.
